View the HTML files on the CD–ROM, as follows:

1. Invoke the web browser currently installed on your system. If one is not installed, visit the following web site to download and install the Compaq Secure Web Browser for OpenVMS:

   `http://www.openvms.compaq.com/openvms/products/ips/cswb/cswb.html`

2. From the File menu, choose the Open File or Open Local item.

3. In the selection field, enter the following file specification:

   device-name`:[DOCUMENTATION.HTML]INDEX.HTML`

   where:

   device-name is the name of the drive on which you have placed the CD–ROM.

   For example:

   `DKB700:[DOCUMENTATION.HTML]INDEX.HTML`

4. The set of titles is displayed; click on the title of the manual that you want to open.

1.4.3 Viewing Bookreader Documentation

The following documentation is provided in Bookreader format:

Using DECwindows Motif for OpenVMS
DECwindows Motif for OpenVMS Applications Guide
Managing DECwindows Motif for OpenVMS Systems
DECwindows Companion to the OSF/Motif Style Guide
DECwindows Extensions to Motif
VMS DECwindows Guide to Application Programming
DECwindows Motif for OpenVMS Guide to Non-C Bindings
Porting XUI Applications to Motif
VMS DECwindows Guide to Xlib (Release 4) Programming: MIT C Binding
VMS DECwindows Guide to Xlib (Release 4) Programming: VAX Binding

If you have a workstation and have installed the DECwindows Motif software, you can view the manuals in Bookreader format with DECwindows Bookreader.

During installation or upgrade, the DECwindows Motif software automatically creates a library directory for Bookreader on your system disk and defines the logical name DECW$BOOK to refer to this directory. When you start Bookreader, it looks for the library file in the directory defined by DECW$BOOK.

View the Bookreader files on the CD–ROM, as follows:

1. Enter the following DCL command:

   $ DEFINE DECW$BOOK device-name:[DOCUMENTATION.DECW$BOOK]

   where:

   device-name is the name of the drive on which you have mounted the CD–ROM.

   For example:

   $ DEFINE DECW$BOOK DKB700:[DOCUMENTATION.DECW$BOOK]
   ```

2. Define the DECW$BOOKSHELF logical to point to the appropriate LIBRARY.DECW$BOOKSHELF. Use the following command to define DECW$BOOKSHELF:

   $ DEFINE DECW$BOOKSHELF device-name:[DOCUMENTATION.DECW$BOOK]-
   _$ LIBRARY.DECW$BOOKSHELF

   where:

   device-name is the name of the drive on which you have placed the CD–ROM.

   For example:

   $ DEFINE DECW$BOOKSHELF -
   _$ DKB700:[DOCUMENTATION.DECW$BOOK]LIBRARY.DECW$BOOKSHELF

   You can also copy the DECW$BOOK files from the CD–ROM to another location on your system. Always remember to define the DECW$BOOK and the DECW$BOOKSHELF logical names to point to the location of the files you want to read.

3. Start Bookreader by choosing Bookreader from the Session Manager Applications menu. You can also start Bookreader with the following command:

   $ RUN SYS$SYSTEM:DECW$BOOKREADER

   On Alpha systems running the New Desktop, start Bookreader by clicking on the Bookreader icon in Application Manager's DECwindows Apps group.

   For more information about Bookreader, see the DECwindows Motif for OpenVMS Applications Guide.

Note

If you want to provide systemwide definitions for the DECW$BOOK and DECW$BOOKSHELF logical names (that is, for all users on the system), you need the SYSNAM privilege.

1.5 Locating Installation Instructions

The installation instructions for the HP DECwindows Motif for HP OpenVMS Alpha Version 1.3 software are available in the hp DECwindows Motif for hp OpenVMS Alpha Installation Guide.

HP strongly suggests that you read the installation instructions prior to installing the DECwindows Motif software.
